Flash Flood

Mysuru-Nanjangud Highway blocked

A view of the submerged road between Mallanamoole Mutt and South India Paper Mill in Nanjangud this morning.

Mysuru/Nanjangud, Aug. 10 (RS&BCT)- For the second time after its inauguration in 1974, a volume of 71,100 cusecs of water was released from the Kabini Dam yesterday and the water release was stepped up to 75,000 cusecs and then to 80,000 cusecs by evening. This resulted in 'flash flood', blocking the Mysuru-Nanjangud National Highway (NH) 212 (now NH 766) this morning.

Vehicles moving from Mysuru to Nanjangud and from Gundlupet to Mysuru were diverted. The first time such a large amount of water was released was in 1992, when 76,000 cusecs of water was released from the Kabini reservoir.

The revival of southwest monsoon since the last three days, after a brief lull has led to heavy rain in Wayanad district of Kerala which has augmented the inflow and outflow from Kabini Dam in H.D. Kote district.

Kurubarahalli Sy. No.4 residents to meet Chief Minister tomorrow

There must be a limit for any responsible government to bluff the innocent people, ignoring their suffering.....

Earlier CM, a Mysurean himself, bluffed his way till the May Assembly polls. Now residents want to see what the new CM will do.

Mysuru, Aug.10 (NNN)- In what looks like a face-off, thousands of residents of Kurubarahalli Survey No.4 will meet Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy tomorrow near Pinjrapole at the foot of Chamundi Hill at 7 am and present him a memorandum urging him to intervene to resolve the problems they have been facing for the last few years.

Disclosing this to Star of Mysore here this morning BJP Leader and Sy. No. 4 Hitarakashna Samithi Convenor B.P. Manjunath said that the residents of the area were frustrated regarding the false claims of the previous government that the 'B Kharab' classification had been dropped at a meeting of the State Cabinet in March this year.

"It was just a political gimmick just before the elections by the previous Congress Government. When we checked we found that the Cabinet had not dropped the 'B Kharab' classification of the MUDA layouts coming under Sy. No. 4, Kurubarahalli and only the files had been sent from the Mysuru DC's office to the Government," he said.

CM arriving in Mysuru tonight

Mysuru, Aug. 10 (KS)- Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, who will arrive in city tonight, will be participating in various events and functions in Mysuru and Mandya districts on Aug. 11 and 12.

The CM will leave Bengaluru by road at 7.30 pm today (Aug. 10) to reach Mysuru at 10 pm and stay overnight.

On Aug. 11, CM Kumaraswamy will visit Suttur Mutt at the foot of Chamundi Hill at 9 am and will leave the Mutt at 10 am to reach Seethapura village in Aralikuppe Gram Panchayat limits, Srirangapatna taluk at 11 am where he will take part in transplanting paddy stalks to inaugurate Israel model agricultural activities.

The CM will arrive at Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) at 1.30 pm and from there he will leave to Chunchanakatte in K.R. Nagar and will reach the place at 4.15 pm. CM Kumaraswamy will inaugurate the Chunchanakatte Jalapatotsava at 7 pm.

He will arrive in Mysuru at 9.30 pm and will halt.

On Aug. 12, the CM will release the special cover brought out by the Postal and the Forest Departments on the occasion of World Elephant Day at the Mysore Airport at 8.30 am and will leave for Hubballi in a special flight at 8.45 am.

Urbanising Villages

While the earthlings have begun to toy with plans of inhabiting space on celestial bodies in the solar system and even hoping to succeed sooner or later, after first firing rockets into far off and uncharted destinations in the open sky followed by orbiting the planet earth in manned missions, action aimed at safe return trips to and from those bodies has a short history, maybe of a few decades. Thanks to the spirit of exploration displayed by the seafarers as well as conquerors, along with their indomitable courage, led by legendary men, human beings have travelled to strange territories, far away from their homelands, as chroniclers have recorded over centuries. Many aspects of undertaking trips to different regions across the planet have changed over time, with (a) full knowledge of every nook and corner of the earth discernible in real time through the satellites, (b) every country safeguarding their boundaries by deploying armed forces flaunting deadly weaponry and (c) the United Nations body that oversees order in inter-country relations. In this backdrop, one is tickled to talk about the many interesting issues arising from the ongoing trips rustics are taking to seek livelihood of comfort and economic prosperity.

The pace of change in the ratio of rural residents to urbanites in the total population, particularly in India, has risen at an unprecedented rate in our times. Currently, an estimated six million rustics are coming to the cities annually, but hardly being welcomed with open arms. Many of them command cash raised by selling their land, much to the envy of their unwilling hosts. Debates have begun in some circles on the consequences of this influx. One plausible step to reverse the influx seems to be urbanising the villages.

Until a few decades ago, some highbrow Bengalureans, styling themselves as the elite sections of the city, could be heard downgrading the then Mysore and its residents in none-too-complimentary expressions, saying Mysore is a village with a laid-back outlook to life. Having got soaked in the chaos that Bengaluru finds itself today, Mysureans are echoing in despair that their city should not go the Bengaluru way, truly a thought of utopian proportions. The process of attrition in the number of villages and expansion of the boundaries of cities seems to be going on like an endless screw as it were.

Academic exercises seem to have captured the minds of some among the top brass in the government on ways and means of helping the villagers not to yield to the temptations of urban life. If that measure were to mean replicating urban face on the village body, nothing can be more absurd. The villagers too have a voice, and they better be consulted on the daunting programme of urbanising villages.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

We all like to believe that what we believe is right. Most of us also imagine that our beliefs are founded on reason, even as that reasoning flows from inherited as well as nurtured values. But are all those values based on evidence? Or is a part of our value system structured on myth? Philosophers deal with such issues better than the rest of us can given constraints of time, space, and varying levels of comprehension. But, in today's global state of confusing uncertainty over what is true and what is fake, it may be important for each one of us to try to understand how value-based reasoning shapes our minds to arrive at social, economic and political positions that lead us to agree or disagree with one another. Values matter. But which value we support or oppose might depend on our ability to subject all values to questioning. Extremists at the far ends of the political spectrum don't or are unable to do that. Doubt is not a value they cherish. For instance, those who believe that an entity called the 'white race' is both superior to and endangered by coloured races are highly unlikely to ask whether the myth of race based on skin shade has ever been a proven fact. — Gautam Adhikari in The Times of India

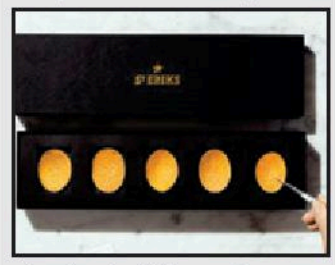
Celtic cross discovered in the middle of forest

Ireland: An impressive landmark growing in the middle of Donegal Forest, Ireland, where you could walk right through it without noticing it. This newly-discovered 'hidden treasure' can only be seen from above.

The giant Celtic Cross of Donegal recently made international headlines after footage shot using a drone went viral on the internet. Filmmaker Darren Sheaffer was working on a project at the Bogay Walled Garden, outside Newtown Cunningham, when it was mentioned to him that there was an amazing sight hidden in the nearby forest of Donegal.

So he took a walk there, launched his drone, and what he saw took his breath away. Right in the middle of the woods was a giant Celtic cross about 100 meters long and 70 meters wide, made up of a different type of tree than the rest of the forest. Donegal's drone video went viral and has since been doing the rounds on the internet.

World's most expensive potato chips



Sweden: In bid to create a special snack to go with their high quality beer, Sweedish brewery St. Erik's has created the world's most expensive potato chips.

St. Erik's decided to create their own exclusive snack and price it accordingly. The luxurious black box designed by St. Erik's contains just five individual potato chips, each made by hand by a chef, using five special Nordic ingredients

A limited batch of 100 St. Erik's potato chips went on sale and was sold out almost instantly, despite the insane price of $56 per box – that's about $11 per chip. Unfortunately, there's no word about a second batch going on sale anytime soon, but considering the smashing success of the first,they would put the second sale soon.

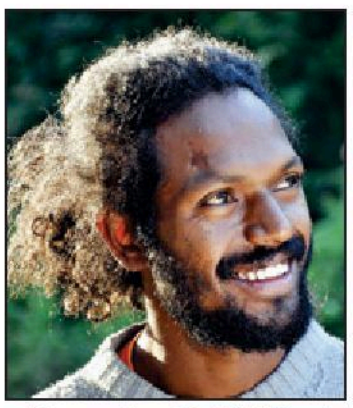
Story-telling by artist Baadal tomorrow



Mysuru, Aug.10- Artist Baadal Nanjundaswamy will be narrating storiesto children at Suruchi Rangamane, #476, Chitrabhanu Road, Kuvempunagar, tomorrow (Aug.11) from 4.30 pm to 5.30 pm, as part of 'Kathe Kelona Banni-602' of Kalasuruchi.

Profile: Baadal Nanjundaswamy, an alumnus of Chamarajendra Academy of Visual Arts (CAVA), Mysuru, is most popular for his street art and 3D paintings. Presently settled in Bengaluru, he has several Black and White wall portraits to his credit. Sachin Tendulkar's portrait in the Students' Activity Centre in IIT Powai is one of them.

Baadal has also written short stories in Kannada which have been published in leading newspapers and magazines. Admittedly, he finds the works of Gabriel Garcia Marquez and particularly the magic realism element in his writing very interesting.

About 'Kathe Kelona Banni: It is a weekly story-telling programme of Kalasuruchi at Suruchi Rangamane, which has already entered the Limca Book of Records in 2016 for being the longest story-telling programme without a break. Many eminent personalties, including scientists, doctors, engineers, academicians, musicians, actors, theatre persons, singers, writers, Police officials, among others have conducted the sessions.

Convenor of Kathe Kelona Banni programme Dr. H. K. Ramanath says, Kalasuruchi, the brainchild of theatre person Sindhuvalli Ananthamurthy, was founded in 1985. "The cultural organisation has been catering to lovers of art, literature, theatre and music for the past 32 years. It organises Harikathe, classical music, plays and literary programmes, besides publishing books," he said. Kalasuruchi's 'Suruchi Rangamane' is a 'Gruha Ranga', a hundred-seat mini theatre, which hosts a variety of programmes .

VOICE OF THE READER

With apologies to Shakespeare

Sir,

The supreme irony of the present day political environment is that it is the fate of 6.5 crore people of Karnataka to bear the Cross to patiently wait at the polling booth to vote. This helped in sending these honourable men and women to the Assembly to decide the fate of citizen voter.

This reminds me of the famous words of Anthony after he learnt how Brutus stabbed Julius Caesar in the back and the justification he gave: Not that I love Caesar less but I love Rome more. It is left to the imagination of people as to whom these noble politicians of Karnataka love more.

With apologies to Shakespeare, this is the common man's lament:

Here are our leaders in the Congress and JD(S) coalition.

For they are all honourable men

Come I to speak on Karnataka's fate

Karnataka was once a Royal city.

But CM is an honourable man

And he has good intentions

Rs. 44,000 crore for farmers' debt waiver,

But suicides continue unabated

But Chief Minister is an honourable man,

Speaks of so many grandiose plans

That cost mammoth amounts

Kings of yore planted road side trees

Built lakes with sparkling waters

Which gave life sustenance to all

But CM is an honourable man,

Now lakh and more trees to be cut

Formakingwayforlongflyovers

While Bellandur and other Lakes stink

But CM means well for he says

Eventually it will help in traffic flow

And bring down pollution,

Of course, eventually we will all be dead.

Finally, UGC grants recognition to 17 courses offered by KSOU

Open University employees celebrate by bursting crackers

Mysuru, Aug. 10 (RK,SBD &BCT)- Providing a major relief to lakhs of students who depend on distant learning, the University Grants Commission (UGC) has finally granted recognition to Karnataka State Open University (KSOU). The UGC had issued a public notice dated 16.6.2015 informing the students not to seek admissions in KSOU since it is de-recognised with retrospective effect from the academic year 2013-2014.

In an official note issued by UGC's Distance Education Bureau yesterday, the KSOU has been granted permission to run courses from the 2018-2019 to 2022-2023 academic year. The move comes after there were several deliberations that KSOU officials had with the UGC authorities earlier this week.

However, the UGC order does not speak about the recognition to courses that were offered in the past and where students are struggling to get their marks card validated. What is still a matter of concern is the fate of old students who had enrolled in courses with KSOU.

The Commission had de-recognised courses run by the KSOU as it had violated UGC's territorial jurisdiction. KSOU had also earned the wrath of the Commission for signing memoranda of understanding with institutions outside Karnataka. Subsequently, KSOU cancelled all these MoUs and also amended their Act to ensure the UGC's territorial jurisdiction was complied with.

COURSES RECOGNISED

The UGC has recognised the following 17 courses offered by KSOU: Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Commerce, Bachelor of Library and Information Science, Master of Arts (Ancient History and Archaeology), Master of Arts (Economics), Master of Arts (English), Master of Arts (Hindi), Master of Arts (History), Master of Arts (Journalism and Mass Communication), Master of Arts (Kannada), Master of Arts (Political Science), Master of Arts (Public Administration), Master of Arts (Sociology), Master of Arts (Urdu), Master of Commerce, Master of Library And Information Sciences, Master of Science (Environmental Science).

It may be recalled here that MLA S.A. Ramdas along with KSOU Vice-Chancellor Prof. D. Shivalingaiah met UGC Chairman Prof. D.P. Singh at New Delhi recently and had held discussions with him and also provided documents.

The entrance of Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) that wore a deserted look since 2015 was a beehive of activity this morning as KSOU employees burst crackers following the grant of recognition by the UGC.

'We had to submit 900-page report to UGC'

Prof. Shivalingaiah

KSOU VC Prof. D. Shivalingaiah, terming this as a rebirth for the University, said they had applied for permission to run 32 programmes but received sanction for 17. He said that there was a provision for the University to appeal seeking permission for the remaining programmes. There was also a provision to conduct admissions till Oct. 1 and the University would conduct online admissions to get more students, he added.

KSOU's affiliation was being rejected over the last few years and had a Herculean task to ensure they get it. Prof. Shivalingaiah said, "We have got an official letter that will tell us which course to start and all other details."

"For this, we had to submit a 900-page report on the University in three volumes. The UGC had changed the policy and we could not get the affiliation last year. The cycle was closed by June 2018. Then the new cycle began and online applications were invited and we applied with this 900-page report of the Open University," Prof. Shivalingaiah added.

PAST MISTAKES TO BE AVOIDED

"It was a traumatic and no-income period since 16.6.2015 as the recognition was withdrawn. We were struggling for our day-to-day survival. What was tragic is that the students were put to severe inconvenience and their future was at stake. The KSOU, Karnataka Government, Higher Education Department and all the elected representatives of Mysuru must be thanked for their sincere efforts to get back the recognition," he said.

The Vice-Chancellor did not forget to add that henceforth, the KSOU will not violate any UGC orders. "In the past, there were many violations and we had to face such a situation. We will not repeat the mistakes as we have learnt our lessons in a hard way. We will follow the UGC rules and regulations religiously," he said.

University Evening College students' hostel on cards

Prof. T.K. Umesh

Mysuru, Aug.10 (YDS&NNN)- University of Mysore in-charge Vice-Chancellor Prof. T.K. Umesh has assured that hostel facility will be created for the students of the University Evening College.

He was speaking after inaugurating the 2018-19 extra-curricular and cultural activities of the University of Mysore Evening College at the Maharaja's College Centenary auditorium, here yesterday and said that there are allegations that a few of the students go to work during the day and attend the college in the evening. Added to this, there is a rule that evening college students must not be given hostel accommodation, a rule that he is not aware of, the VC added.

Hence, in the best interest of such students separate hostel for them will be provided, he said.

It is very good to hear that lot of students are studying in the evening college. However, what is difficult to understand is how they will find time to engage in extra-curricular activities as they are busy in the morning working and in the evening attending classes, he said.

Ningaraju and team presented Kamsale before the programme commenced. Evening College Principal Prof. Anjaneya, lecturer Dinesh and others were present.

MCC election on Aug. 31

High Court declines to interfere in delimitation, reservation of wards

Mysuru, Aug. 10 (SBD,RK& BCT)- The election to the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) will be held on Aug. 31. The State Election Commission last evening announced the date for the election to 65 wards under the MCC. The Commission declared the dates as the Karnataka High Court dismissed a petition questioning the delimitation and reservation of the wards.

The High Court yesterday refused to interfere with the delimitation of wards in Mysuru and Tumakuru City Corporations, and the reservation of wards in Shivamogga and Mysuru Corporations and thus cleared the way for the Election Commission to hold elections.

Justice B. Veerappa passed the order while dismissing two batches of writ petitions. One related to the delimitation of wards and the other on reservation of certain wards to some categories of castes. While dismissing petitions, the Court held that the petitioners have not made out a case to interfere with the impugned delimitation notifications as they approached the Court at the last minute and the elections have to be completed on or before September 5, 2018 as per the Constitutional mandate.

With the announcement of the elections, the Model Code of Conduct has come into effect immediately. As per the order, the poll notification will be issued on Aug. 13 and the last date for candidates to file their nomination papers is Aug. 20. The nomination papers will be scrutinised on Aug. 21 and the last date for withdrawal is Aug. 23. Voting will take place from 7 am to 5 pm on Aug. 31. And if there is a necessity of re-voting, it will be done on Sept. 2. The counting of votes is on Sept.3 from 8 am.

For the first time, the Election Commission has given permission to introduce NOTA (None of the above) option in the Urban Local Body (ULB) elections.

With the announcement of election, it will be a litmus test for the JD(S)-Congress coalition government in Karnataka. The election is being seen not just as an indicator of public perception about the Kumaraswamy Government, but a tough test of bonding between Congress and JD(S) ahead of the 2019 Lok Sabha polls.

The first challenge will be to identify the candidates from the parties. Problem is bound to arise where both the Congress and JD(S) are strong. Already, there is stiff competition between the party workers of Congress and JD(S) to wrest as many seats as possible from each other.

Though the coalition partners are yet to decide on forging an electoral tie-up, Congress leaders, from the grassroot level to many Ministers, have conveyed their opposition to it. If coalition partners fail to arrive at an understanding, it will spoil the newly-found-harmony of party leaders in Old Mysuru region.

According to sources, many Congress Ministers wanted the party to go alone in the ULB polls. Most of the district and taluk unit heads of Congress have already conveyed their opposition to any tie-up with JD(S) for these polls.

Saving the Souls at Ranganathittu!

It was distressing to read reports that thousands of birds' nests, eggs and hatchlings at the Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary were washed away recently when the flood-gates of the KRS Dam were opened to let out the water that exceeded its storage capacity. This is not the first time that this man-made tragedy has happened and very often people feel that this can be prevented if the flood waters are released a little slowly by the people who are vested with this responsibility.

But as things stand today it is not a completely preventable problem. When there is a sudden influx of water into the reservoir there is simply no way the excess can be held back or even let out slowly to prevent flooding at the sanctuary. So blaming the officials in charge of managing the dam of being thoughtless makes no sense as they have to do the job of regulating the water level at the dam very often by taking split-second decisions, sometimes in the middle of the night. Theirs is a job of constant vigilance and great responsibility, especially during the monsoon months.

The Ranganathittu Sanctuary was established in the year 1940 by the then Maharaja of Mysore upon the advice of Dr. Salim Ali, the world famous ornithologist after he visited the spot and felt that it was a natural treasure-house that needed to be protected. However, there is no clarity over whether it was H. H. Sri Krishnaraja Wadiyar or his successor H.H. Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar who did this as the former passed away in the year 1940 and the latter ascended the throne immediately after him.

Ranganathittu is the largest bird sanctuary in our State with an area of about forty acres and is spread across an archipelago of six islands perennially surrounded by the waters of the Cauvery River. Along with about 30 species of its permanent residents, nearly 170 species of birds have been sighted here because this place is the haven of a large number of migratory birds that come here from distant lands like Siberia, Australia and North and South America.

In addition to bird species, these islands also abound in many mammalian and reptilian species with Indian Marsh Crocodile or Mugger being the most notable attraction to visitors. In fact, Ranganathittu has the largest population of this fresh-water crocodile in Karnataka.

If we can form a Think Tank that can co-ordinate with the government agencies concerned, I'm hopeful that we will all see a solution to this painful problem of the denizens of Ranganathittu before the Cauvery sees its next flood !

In the early seventies, ever since I acquired my first SLR Camera and my Lambretta scooter and in the early eighties, it was my regular retreat in the wilderness which was actually my favourite weekend hideout. I missed out going there for six-long-years in-between when I was away from Mysuru, pursuing my medical studies at Gulbarga. While doing my post-graduation in the early eighties in Mysuru, I think I have spent as much time there with my cameras and lenses as I spent with my patients in the corridors and wards of K. R. Hospital! During those years, Ranganathittu was a pretty deserted place without any kind of restrictions on where one could or couldn't go. I had a couple of boatmen whom I had befriended and they would be happy to transport me and my equipment to any of the islands of my choice and leave me there for as long as I wanted.

Every Sunday I would be at Ranganathittu in the company my friend Dr. Taher Assadi, who was also pursing his MD and was seriously into photography like me. And, on every Tuesday I would once again be there in the company of Dr. B. N. Ramesh, the senior resident in Medicine who later joined the CFTRI as a medical officer.

Ramesh and I would invariably volunteer to do the night duty on every Monday after the weekly OPD of our unit because that would give us half-a-day off on the forenoon of Tuesday! This half-a-day's break used to seem worthy of enduring a sleepless night once a week, running around, like stealthy ghosts, from one block of the hospital to the other attending to emergency calls from different wards! So every Tuesday it used to be a sumptuous breakfast of steaming hot idlies topped with butter at Mylari Hotel in Nazarbad before catching the first boat to my own Treasure Island!

It is interesting to note that though there is a much larger group of similar islands slightly upstream, for some inexplicable reason that to me seems worthy of looking into, the birds seem to prefer roosting only on the six islands of Ranganathittu. Although most officials of our Irrigation and Forest Departments say that there is no way of preventing the flooding of Ranganathittu and the consequent washing away of the nestlings there whenever water is suddenly released from the KR Sagar Dam, I feel that we can find ways and means of mitigating this problem to a significant extent if we give a serious thought to it.

If you look at a map of the place you will find that a very large island is also a part of the other five much smaller islands that make up the sanctuary. I do not know what lies on this large island now as no one is allowed to step on it. But way back in the early seventies I have explored it extensively on foot and I used to see some agricultural activity going on there especially on its Northern side. I am told that now all the islands including the largest one of them have been included into the sanctuary and are a restricted zone.

But it may be noted here that it is only the southern edge of this large island which is home to the roosting birds. The widest part or the main body of the Cauvery River flows along the northern border of this island with only a narrow tract of it flowing along its southern border engulfing the other smaller islands there. So a great deal of the river water flows through its northern body. But because water finds its own level it rises equally on all sides of all the islands and floods the sanctuary, sometimes destroying the nesting areas at high flood level.

Now if a small weir is built across the smaller Southern body of the river from its right bank to the Western edge of this large island, it can divert the flood waters towards the larger body of the river and keep the water levels low in the sanctuary proper. This suggestion and its practicality need to be discussed by a team of engineering experts who can then decide if it is pragmatic. My second suggestion is to trim away just the lowermost branches of all the vegetation that grows on all the islands of the sanctuary every summer before the nesting season begins. This will ensure that the unwary birds do not build their nest close to the high flood level of the area and put their eggs and nestlings at risk.

Of course, this measure cannot protect many of the ground-nesting bird species like River Terns, Stone Plovers, Lapwings, Swifts and Swallows which abound in the place. My third suggestion which can save even the ground-nesting birds is to build a weir or spillway across the entire width of the river a little downstream from the sanctuary so that its small height keeps an artificially high level of water all round the year that almost matches the highest flood level so that all species of birds build their nests only in the safe areas. The height of this check dam need not be very great as the difference between the lowest level of water and its highest-flood level at the sanctuary is never more than four feet.

I'm sure that many of my readers, nature lovers and experts in this field may have some more suggestions to solve this problem which now torments the denizens of Ranganathittu. If we can form a think tank that can co-ordinate with the government agencies concerned, I'm hopeful that we will all see a solution to this painful problem before the Cauvery sees its next flood !

Interaction at Mysore Art Gallery

Mysuru, Aug.10- As part of its 31st edition of 'Interaction with the Achievers' programme, Mysore Art Gallery has organised an interaction with the Messiah of unclaimed bodies G. Ayub Ahmed at the Gallery premises on Ramanuja Road in city tomorrow (Aug.11) at 11 am.

Pusthakalaya Head A.D. Nanjundaswamy will be the chief guest.

Ayub Ahmed

Profile: Ayub Ahmed, a resident of Shaktinagar in city, finds satisfaction in his odd job of shifting unidentified and unclaimed bodies from different parts of the city to the MMC&RI mortuary and even performing the last rites of some as per their religion. The 39-year-old Ayub Ahmed, popularly known as Ayub Ahmedji, has been carrying out this job, for the past 19 years.

He conducts the last rites of unclaimed bodies as per religion. If the body is that of Hindu, Ayub performs the last rites at the burial ground along Jodithenginamara Road leading from Highway Circle, Christians at the Christian Cemetery at Rammanahalli and of Muslims at the Khabarsthan behind the Mysuru Central Prison.

Apart from this, he has also been providing food and clothing to the needy for the past 20 years.

POINT BLANK

How to inculcate DISCIPLINE in children

Musings on a Sr. Statesman's advice

By K.B. Ganapathy,
Editor-in-Chief

Sreenivasa Prasad

This refers to the article titled 'Role of parents, schools in educating children - What NGOs can do to make this a better world' by Ashvini Ranjan (SOM dated Aug. 9).

At the root of all the evils mentioned in the article and also deficiencies in manners, codes of behaviour, decorum, etiquette and such finer values found among students mentioned in the article is LACK OF DISCIPLINE. The most famous name that comes to my mind whenever the word DISCIPLINE is mentioned is that of Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa. From punctuality, wearing proper immaculate dress to flawless execution of a given task and his obsession to impose those disciplines on others has given room to many anecdotes. That is his greatest legacy.

It is, therefore, not surprising that introduction of NCC in schools and colleges mainly to inculcate discipline that goes with military training was his idea. In consonance with NCC, he also supported Scouts and Guides which imbibes qualities of kindness and service — Service Above Self — among the students.

About eight years back I was travelling to Suttur Mutt in Suttur village along with V. Sreenivasa Prasad, then an MLA. In the course of our conversation he asked, "What should we do for all-round development of our society?" I said, "very simple, EDUCATION." Then I elaborated on what kind of education with emphasis on quality, no matter what discipline. I also mentioned to him about our reservation policy which is equal to Affirmative Action in America intended to help the poor and the oppressed.

I said, despite the good intentions of the government, sadly, the beneficiaries are misusing the opportunity rather than using it for their amelioration and to rise like Dr. Ambedkar to the level of the privileged people in the society.

I remembered this conversation with Sreenivasa Prasad when I saw an advertisement released on his 71st birthday on Aug. 6, 2018, wherein there were two quotations of his thought and precept for the community. One was in Kannada and another in English which is about himself:

"Politics is a series of compromises, but it is a social commitment and concern for me."

— V. Sreenivasa Prasad

However, what surprised me was what was published in Kannada which was an advice to his fellowmen:

"ಶೋಷಿತರು ತಮ್ಮ ಬಾಹ್ಯ ಶತ್ರುಗಳ ವಿರುದ್ಧದ ಹೋರಾಟದ ಜೊತೆಗೆ 'ಕುಷಿತ, ಅನಕ್ಷರತೆ, ಅತೀ ಸಂತಾನ' ಗಳೆಂಬ ಆಂತರಿಕ ಶತ್ರುಗಳನ್ನು ದಮನಗೊಳಿಸಲು ಸದಾ ಜಾಗೃತರಾಗಿರಬೇಕು"

— ವಿ. ಶ್ರೀನಿವಾಸ ಪ್ರಸಾದ್

Loosely translated into English, it reads as follows, "Those who are discriminated while fighting their enemies around them should also fight the enemies within them like illiteracy, addiction to alcohol and large family."

I thought this was a most significant and appropriate advice from a Senior Statesman like V. Sreenivasa Prasad. Sadly, many of his contemporaries remained mere politicians.

Flash Flood: Mysuru-N'gud Highway blocked

The bridge connecting Suttur and Mysuru that has been submerged this morning.

Likewise, the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam is receiving good inflow from its catchment area in Kodagu and over 70,000 cusecs of water is being released from the KRS.

The water release from the Kabini Dam resulted in the overflowing of Kapila River for the third time during this monsoon. While the release of 55,000 cusecs of water from Kabini Dam caused extensive damage last month, yesterday's release of 80,000 cusecs yesterday has caused the NH 766 to be blocked.

TRAFFIC DIVERTED

As the NH 766 connects to Tamil Nadu and Kerala, the travellers have been inconvenienced with the traffic being diverted. The road between Mallanamoole Mutt and the South India Paper Mill has been blocked and there is over three to four feet of water on the road. The bridge across Kapila near Suttur village too is submerged cutting off the link between Mysuru-Hosakote and Suttur.

Traffic from Mysuru side to Nanjangud has been diverted to Adakanahalli Industrial Area, Tandavapura, and Kempesiddanahundi to reach Nanjangud while vehicles coming from Gundlupet are diverted towards Hullahalli Circle to reach Mysuru.

As the road is critical for the vehicles to reach Kerala and Tamil Nadu, huge traffic jams were witnessed in several places.

DC, SP VISIT

Following the block in the National Highway, Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Superintendent of Police Amit Singh, Tahsildar Dayananda and other officials rushed to spot after water level breached. Officials told Star of Mysore that the National Disaster Relief Force (NDRF) has been informed about the impending disaster. The NDRF is likely to send a team as more water will be released from Kabini as rainfall is continuing unabated in Kerala.

RELIEF CENTRES

Two low-lying localities in Nanjangud have been partially submerged and efforts are on to relocate four families from there. A 'Ganji Kendra' (relief centre) has been opened at the Dasoha Bhavan at Srikanteshwara Swamy Temple in Nanjangud and over seven to eight families have been given temporary shelters.

Hundreds of acres of paddy have been destroyed. After the water release from Kabini last month, farmers had tilled their lands and had sowed paddy and even transplanted them into fields. They were hoping for a good crop as their fields had enough water. But all their hopes are dashed now as water has submerged their paddy crop. If the water level stays for a 24-hour period, the paddy crop will turn black, leaving it useless.

HIGH ALERT SOUNDED

Revenue authorities have issued a warning to residents against venturing near the river.

Entry banned to Brindavan Gardens

Mysuru, Aug. 10 (RK&BCT)- For the second time in the current monsoon season, entry of visitors to Krishnaraja Sagar (KRS) Reservoir and Brindavan Gardens has been banned and boating at the Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary has been suspended for an indefinite period.

The decision to ban entry to these places was taken late last evening following increased inflow of water to the KRS from Kodagu. Over 20,000 cusecs of water has been released from the Harangi Dam and this has increased the flow into KRS. The KRS now has an outflow of 70,000 cusecs.

While there is a complete ban on tourist entry into Brindavan Gardens, visitors are barred from entering via the North Gate of the KRS (from the old entrance to Brindavan Gardens). Visitors are only allowed to view the water discharge by standing along the railings near the water department office near the South Gate. Entry will be banned till the outflow touches 40,000 cusecs, said the officials.

Likewise, boating has been cancelled as a precautionary measure at the bird sanctuary at Ranganathittu.

Jalapatotsava from tomorrow

Mysuru, Aug. 10-The State Tourism Department is making all efforts to attract tourists and as part of this, Monsoon Tourism is being promoted by including Chunchanakatte water falls in K.R.Nagar taluk in this year's Jalapatotsava (festival of falls) being held on Aug.11 and 12. Since the Constituency MLA is S.R. Mahesh, who is also the Tourism Minister, he has taken a lot of interest to design the event.

K.R.Nagar is just 56 kms from Mysuru and from there it is another 14 kms to reach Chunchanakatte where the Cauvery River flows from a height of 20 metres. Hence, the Tourism Department has come forward to promote this place.

The stage is being set for the two-day Jalapatotsava organised by Mysuru District Administration, Tourism Department and Kannada and Culture Department. CM H.D. Kumaraswamy, his son Nikhil, actor Sudeep, Playback Singer Arjun Janya, comedian Chikkana and other artistes are likely to participate. Nearly 20,000 tourists are expected.

Entries invited for Dasara Flower Show

Mysuru, Aug.10-Entries are invited for flower decoration and vegetable carving from Horticulture Department and District Horticulture Association as part of Dasara Flower show (2018-19).

Those interested public, Industrial Associations and Industrial members willing to participate should register their names along with address at District Horticulture Association, Curzon Park here. According to a press release from the Horticulture Department.

Last Ashada Shukravara atop Chamundi Hill

Hill temple resembles a fortress with Mounted Police

Mysuru, Aug. 10 (MTY&BCT)- The iconic Chamundeshwari Temple and its surrounding areas atop the Chamundi Hill resembled a fortress this morning with hundreds of Policemen including the Mounted Police deployed there to manage the crowd on the last Ashada Shukravara. In fact, at some places atop the Hill, there were more uniformed men than the devotees.

The Police action comes in the wake of a series of complaints by the devotees on the poor crowd management and the resultant chaos and confusion especially during the last three Ashada Fridays.

Star of Mysore had published a series of articles regarding poor facilities at the Hill Temple, the confusion and the lack of response from the Police and the District Administration.

For a change, it was good crowd management by the Police and thousands of devotees were led to orderly queues with absolutely no chance of jumping the queues.

Orderly lines were witnessed at all the queues — Rs. 50, Rs. 300 and the VVIP queue. Apart from these queues, no devotee was allowed a direct entry to the temple and Mounted Police were seen driving away unruly devotees who tried to sneak inside the sanctum sanctorum of the temple, claiming their influence.

Today there were about 15,000 devotees atop the Hill in the morning. The fewer crowds were due to the Amavasya that will begin at 5 pm, heralding the arrival of Shravana season after Ashada. So strict were the arrangements that even the media personnel had to wait to enter the temple with special passes.

Rituals inside the Chamundeshwari Temple began at 3.30 am and they included Mahanyasa Poorvaka Rudrabhisheka, Panchamrutha abhisheka, Sahasranaamarchane, Tripadi and Ashtothara. The rituals were led by temple Chief Priest Dr. Shashishekar Dikshit. The Goddess was dressed in Simha Vahini Alankara that was visually soothing for the devotees.

Among the VVIPs who came to the temple this morning were PWD Minister H.D. Revanna, Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh, Water Resources Minister D.K. Shivakumar, BJP stalwart K.S. Eshwarappa and MLA Ramdas.

A team of BJP Yuva Morcha activists led by State BJP General Secretary B.Y. Vijayendra climbed the steps and performed special pujas to the Goddess for Prime Minister Narendra Modi to become the PM again in 2019.

Kurubarahalli Sy. No.4 residents to meet CM tomorrow

Since the Chief Minister is coming to Mysuru tonight we are planning to meet him and highlight the problems the residents of Siddarthanagar, KC Layout, JC Layout, Income Tax Layout and Alanahalli, all coming under MUDA, are facing as they have not been issued Khata, Sy. No.4 Hitarakshana Samithi Convenor B.P. Manjunath said.

MP Pratap Simha, MLAs S.A. Ramdas and L. Nagendra will also join them to meet the CM, he said.

"Nearly 25,000 to 30,000 residents who have been issued title deed by the MUDA have been cheated by the previous Congress government. The plight of many has worsened and a few of them have also died. They are not able to sell or take loan on properties, because of the non-issuance of the Khata," he said.

He also said that the residents of the association along with the elected representatives would go to Vidhana Soudha on August 12, and sit in dharna demanding that the problem be resolved at the earliest.

B.P. Manjunath

Meanwhile, when Star of Mysore spoke to Additional Deputy Commissioner T. Yogesh this morning he said, "We have not received any official confirmation with regard to Kurburahalli Survey No. 4 about the decision taken in the Cabinet meeting in March. All we are aware of is that after a meeting chaired by the DC, a report had been sent to the Government."

Those who are interested in participating in the meeting may contact Hitarakashna Samithi Convenor Manjunath on Mobile: 98440 79165 or member Prakash Jain on Mob: 98453 57577.

Aug.11 at 6 pm: Dr. K. Srikantaiah Memorial Programme (an Endowment by Dr. K.S. Chandrasekar) features a Musical Dance Drama "Prahlada Bhakti Vijaya" of Tyagaraja by Surabhi Gana Kala Mandira led by Dr. Sukanya Prabhakar. Tyagaraja is one of the Trinity who composed Kritis in praise of mostly Lord Rama. There is no concert in Karnatak music which cannot have a Tyagaraja composition.

Tyagaraja has equally classically composed with his vast knowledge on music and devotion a musical ballet "Prahallada Bhakti Vijaya" or simply Bhakti Vijaya with 5 sequences.

The great work depicts the knowledge Tyagaraja had on contemporary arts such as Bhagavata Mela, Koravanji Drama and Kathakali. Tyagaraja has also brought in the nuances of a drama with poems, prose,couplets, kanda padya, seesa padya, champakamala, utkalamala etc., for excellant dramatisation.

Surabhi team known for their creativeness is presenting this for the second time.

Playback Theatre by The Playbackwallahs

Mysuru, Aug.10- I Can The Learning Centre School's Theatre Club "Chakalagulli" hosted a unique Playback Theatre Workshop for its parents for over three weeks recently. Artist Aeryk from New York has been performing and teaching Playback Theatre in the US for over 20 years in all levels of education, and in the community and has been lending his time and talent during his visits to Mysuru mostly with local families and the teachers of the school. The workshop culminated on Aug. 2 at the school's Intimate Theatre Auditorium with the Playbackwallahs' show.

While compassion and listening are the primary skills, the format includes sharing a live story or episode from the audience from their own life and the performers / actors immediately create a piece of Art on the spot with sound, movement, dialogue, and whatever else they bring.

The conductor holds the show together and improvisation has never been as exciting especially live. There are certain 'forms' or stylised ways the stories can be re-told giving some structure to the improvisation, and include Fluid Sculpture, Pairs, Tableaux, Chorus and a full story as some of the styles, says Capt. Audrey Maben, School Head.

Not mist, but a smoke screen

Even as cities like New Delhi, Mumbai and Bengaluru are grappling with air pollution and thick smog covering the atmosphere early in the morning, our city of Mysuru is not far behind. This picture of sun's rays penetrating through smoke was captured by freelance photographer G.S. Ravishankar near the Institution of Engineers, on the road that leads to Deputy Commissioner's Office. Almost every day, heaps of garbage and leaf waste are set on fire in this area covering the locality with thick smoke.

A TRIBUTE OF LOVE

Fr. Denis Noronha:
Human being extraordinaire

By Justice Michael F. Saldanha

A file photo of Justice M. F. Saldanha receiving the Holy Communion from his Mentor Fr. Denis Noronha at a Mass held at Our Lady of Perpertual Succour Church, Mysuru, in February 2017.

Life is a stage on which each of us have to play a part (with apologies to the Bard) and the performance of some is extraordinary, as with the case of my very dear friend, mentor and guru Father Denis Noronha.

From the early 90s after my transfer from the Bombay High Court to Karnataka, I used to visit Mysore as it then was, very regularly as I was requested to be a Visiting Professor at the Mysore University (of which Institution I was a one-time Gold Medallist), as also the Administrative Training College where Senior Government Officers used to come for specialised courses.

There was a third reason for my visits in so far as I was privileged to associate myself with a group of exceptional professionals who used to take up important public causes, some of the names that I still remember are Dr. Bhamy V. Shenoy, Dr. H.A.B. Parpia (late), Maj. Gen. (retd.) S.G. Vombatkere and Sheila F. Irani (late). Together, the Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) had taken up a host of social, political and human rights issues and never lost out on any of them.

I was also a regular speaker with many other organisations and that was the time when I met Fr. Noronha and the one and only veteran journalist in the form of K.B. Ganapathy whom I felt was better suited to be the Head of the Department of English Literature at the University!

The amount of media support that we got from Ganapathy was to a large extent responsible for the phenomenal successes. From those early days, the Trimurti of Fr. Noronha, Ganapathy and myself formed a bonded relationship that has endured through the years.

What amazed me and all others about Fr. Noronha was that he possessed a rare level of brilliance, he was a financial genius with a midas touch, every project that he handled ended in spectacular success; yet his brains never went to his head and he virtually oozed kindness to all human beings and the beneficiaries of his talents over the span of five decades whether it was in Schools, Parishes, Institutions from the highest quarters to the lowest, were innumerable.

Despite all of this, I have never come across a more genial and simple person with that disarming smile that was ever present —even in his illnesses and ailments which were many, and right up to the end when I thought he could have received better care and treatment.

What was unusual was the fact that persons at the highest level of politics, the top Swamijis, intellectuals and all others, developed an instant love and respect for him which was intertwined with esteem and regard.

He left us recently for a well-deserved and rich reward but he was an exceptional role model. I was upset at one stage, many years ago, when he was asked to leave the top positions in Mysore and move to Mandya and I decided to request the powers that be to reconsider this decision because he would be wasted there. He smiled and said to me that moving up in life is grand but not many can take the downward moves — he was unfazed, went to Mandya and completed the magnificent edifice of the Church there which stands out and totally overhauled and recreated the Educational Institutions.

We imbibed a lot from him which only made life richer. I was, therefore, not at all surprised to read the brilliant tributes to him from Ganapathy which, apart from his inimitable talent, displayed a lot of feeling. Fr. Noronha was blessed with a long life, exceptional success and recognition but what stood out most as far as I was concerned, was that unadulterated love which flowed from him and the nicest part of it was that I never once through the years, even when he was down and out in hospital, missed out on that warm ever-present smile and the wit and humour that added to the sparkle.

Partings are always sad, particularly in this case and one recalls the lines from Alfred Lord Tennyson, "Oh, for the touch of his vanished hand and the sound of his voice that has gone still….!!"

Truly, here was a man who strode through his life path through an act that was par-excellence. Goodbye Father, you inspired us !!

NOTE: Once on my way to Bengaluru, I broke my journey for a few hours to visit Fr. Noronha in his Mandya Church. Like his legion of friends, I too was sad about his new situation under the new Church dispensation.

He had always been a very good host. While at the table as usual we cracked some jokes. When time to take leave came I told the Father, again by way of a banter, "Father, now you don't have to serve the Archbishop, the Cardinal or the Pope. You will serve ONLY Jesus the Lord."

—K.B. Ganapathy, Editor-in-Chief

Requiem Mass on Aug. 12

A Requiem Mass has been organised by Justice M.F. Saldanha in memory of Fr. Denis Victor Noronha (who left for his heavenly abode on July 16, 2018) on Sunday the 12th August at Our Lady of Perpetual Succour Church in Srirampura, Mysuru. The Special Mass will be offered by Rev. Fr. C. Rayappa, Vicar General of Mysuru Diocese, at 10 am. Sri Somanatha Swamiji of Adichunchanagiri Mutt, Mysuru, will grace the occasion, according to Parish Priest Rev. Fr. Raymond.

Homage to Thiru Karunanidhi:
A Leader of Leaders

By Dr. A.V. Narasimha Murthy

Some years ago I had participated in the release of the book Sangam Age Tamil Coins written by R. Krishnamurthy. I was to speak about the book and the late DMK Patriarch M. Karunanidhi had to release the book. On the dais were Karunanidhi, Justice Mohan, myself [see pic, extreme right] and others.

Karunanidhi looked at me and asked who I was and the reply was a coin-specialist. Karunanidhi turned towards me and asked whether I knew Tamil. He spoke in chaste classical Tamil.

I replied Koncham Koncham. He said learn more. You know Tamil is the elder brother of Dravidian and Kannada comes next. Thus you have to show respect to your elder brother.

I nodded my head in accepting his word. He was pleased. He took a Ponnadai (brocade type gold threaded shawl) and wrapped around me in his own hands. Others were surprised at this gesture. This Ponnadai is still with me and my wife uses it for decorating our wall on special occasions like Gowri-Ganesha Puja etc. The invitees who come to my house admire and ask where I purchased it.

Then we narrate to them the entire story and they all praise me and my image goes a notch higher. Such a Dravidian stalwart passed away. I join lakhs of people in paying homage to this leader of leaders. May his soul rest in peace.

'AIISH should play role of technological leader to reach last man with disability'

Disabilities Comr. Basavaraju at 53rd AIISH anniversary

State Commissioner of Persons with Disabilities V.S. Basavaraju launching the Newborn Screening Centres at Lucknow and Bhagalpur by pressing a button at the 53rd Annual Day celebrations of AIISH in city yesterday as ATI Director General Dr. Kapil Mohan, AIISH Director Dr. S.R. Savithri and Prof. N. Sridevi look on.

Mysuru, Aug.10 (RK&NNN)- "There are lot of facilities for the disabled these days and the government is thinking of providing more services. However, more than the medical treatment it is through counselling that one needs to treat the people with disabilities," said State Commissioner of Persons with Disabilities V.S. Basavaraju.

He was speaking after inaugurating the 53rd Annual Day celebrations of All India Institute of Speech and Hearing (AIISH) at the Knowledge Park auditorium in the institute premises here yesterday.

He said that the biggest support need in disability sector for rehabilitation is not so much for the children but the mothers.

"Unless we don't equip mothers and support them, they continue to suffer. Under Rashtriya Bal Swastya Karyakram (RBSK) of the Government of India, screening of the disabilities had been happening but the actual service to the child has not been available. There is a critical gap as we are failing at giving advice to the parents as to where to send the child and what sort of support the child requires," he said.

Hence, it is more important to train the people who take care of the disabled than training the latter themselves. Even though there are sufficient rules and laws for the disabled, it has not been possible to give them proper justice, he regretted.

The role of institutions like AIISH is very vital and it should play the role of technological leader by working effectively and efficiently using technology as the vision to reach the maximum number of people with disability in the country, he said.

In the next five to ten years the department is ready to go a long way as there are plenty of human, financial and infrastructural resources in the State. Hence, the institution should collaborate with local medical colleges and NGOs to provide aid and assistance to the needy. Only then can it have an impact, opined Basavaraju.

Director General of Administrative Training Institute (ATI) Dr. Kapil Mohan said that in the report published by AIISH it is a matter of grave concern to see that nearly 2.67 per cent of the population in Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Mandya have hearing disability. The extension of research conducted in AIISH should reach larger population and interaction with real life problems should be the idea, he added.

The 'Newborn Screening Card' should act like an immunisation card, which should reach the whole population. Even though the role of technology today is enabling us to save time, the challenge is that they are newly introduced and the products which are newly developed are pricey.

These technological instruments to determine medical cases should be made affordable and manpower should be trained to use the equipment, he said.

On the occasion, students who have been conferred with Ph.D and those who had served the institution and retired were felicitated. AIISH Director Dr. S.R. Savithri, Technical Service Department Head Prof.N. Sridevi and others were present.

Newborn Screening Card

Newborn Screening Card which facilitates the screening of newborn children to determine the disability at the early stages was released on the occasion of the 53rd Annual Day. Also, Newborn Screening Centres at the King George's Medical University, Lucknow and Jawaharlal Nehru Medical College of Bhagalpur was launched through video conference from the AIISH campus.

Survey released: State Commissioner of Persons with Disabilities V.S. Basavaraju released the survey report on Communication Disorders that were undertaken by AIISH from 2012-14. The survey was conducted at Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Mandya districts and in Level IV (Phase 1), a total population of 3,36,596 was surveyed. A total of 312 ASHA workers were trained and recruited for the survey .

Thieves decamp with Rs. 1.3 lakh cash from an electronic showroom

Mysuru, Aug. 10 (RK&KS) - Burglars, who targeted a showroom selling electronic gadgets have managed to decamp with Rs. 1.3 lakh cash from the showroom on Wednesday night in city.

The electronic showroom that was burgled is Srikanteshwara TV showroom on Dr. Rajkumar Road.

The burglars gained entry into the showroom by forcibly opening the shutters and decamped with cash and a Digital Video Recorder (DVR), it is learnt.

Attempt to burgle JIO showroom

After burgling the TV showroom, the burglars targeted the JIO showroom on the same road.

But when the burglars tried to forcibly open the shutters of the showroom, the alarm went off, forcing the burglars to abandon their plan to loot the showroom and fled from the spot.

Alanahalli Police, who rushed to the spot, conducted mahazar and have registered cases.

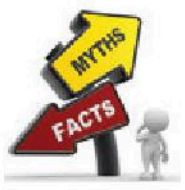
WORD OF THE DAY

Debunk

Pronunciation: dee-BUNK



Meaning: To expose the sham or falseness of.

Origin: If you guessed that debunk has something to do with bunk, meaning "nonsense," you're correct. We started using bunk around the turn of the 20th century. (It derived, via bunkum, from a remark made by a Congressman from Buncombe County, North Carolina.) Within a couple of decades, debunk was first used in print for the act of taking the bunk out of something. There are plenty of synonyms for debunk, including disprove, rebut, refute, and the somewhat rarer confute. Even falsify can mean "to prove something false," in addition "to make something false." Debunk itself often suggests that something is not merely untrue but also a sham; one can simply disprove a myth, but if it is debunked, the implication is that it was a grossly exaggerated or foolish claim.

Example: The scientist hoped to debunk the genetic theory by completing his own research.

THE ODD WORD

Petrichor

The pleasant earthy smell after rain.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

To break the ice

Meaning: To break down social formality and stiffness.

Origin: The earlier meaning of this phrase, that is, 'to forge a path for others to follow', alludes of course to the breaking of ice to allow the navigation of boats. The figurative use is quite old and was recorded by Sir Thomas North in his 1579 translation of Plutarch's Lives of the noble Grecians and Romanes:"To be the first to break the Ice of the Enterprize."It wasn't until the latter part of the 17th century that it took on its current meaning of 'establish a relaxed relationship in socially awkward situations'; for example, Samuel Butler's Hudibras, 1678: "The Oratour - At last broke silence, and the Ice." In The Taming of the Shrew by Shakespeare uses this phrase 'Brake the Ice'.

Example: Someone suggested that we play a party game to break the ice.

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
